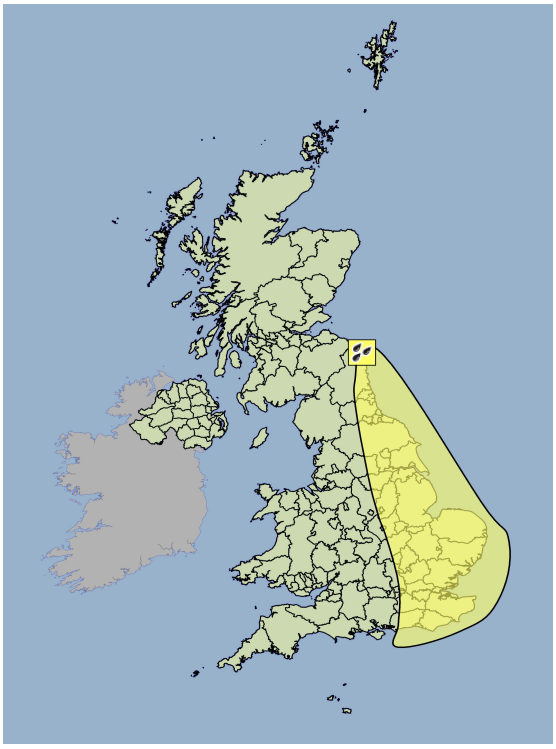
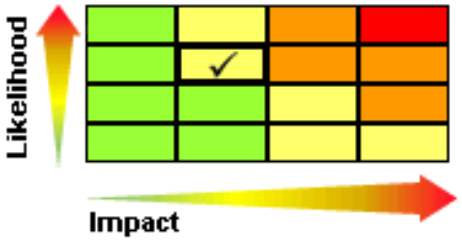
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
An area of moist and unstable air will extend into eastern parts of the United Kingdom during Thursday. This will bring the risk of some locally heavy rainfall over a short period of time. Although not all places within the warning area are expected to see heavy rainfall where it does occur some local surface water flooding is possible. There remains some uncertainty in how far west the area of cloud and rain will extend and the public are advised to keep up to date with the forecast and warnings.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Rain

Valid from 06:00 on Thu, 10th Jul 2014 until 09:00 on Fri, 11th Jul 2014

Outbreaks of rain will become heavy at times through Thursday and Thursday night. Although not all areas will see heavy rainfall, where it does occur some local surface water flooding is possible.

The public should be aware of the risk of local disruption to transport and outdoor events during Thursday and Thursday night.
